Drawing From Observation Competition

Calling all past contributors to the Drawing From Observation Diana Armfield Show, in memory of Bernard Dunstan. You will be building up a collection from which to choose your next submission to the Show in 2020. Now are the summer months to tempt us with drawing landscape scenes. Will you try to encourage anyone who might benefit from advice from you to "have a go"? All those over 16 years are welcome to submit drawings directly from life, not from photographs or by using devices or other means.

To draw is to enrich the seeing and to soothe the soul, so much better than a pill. We look forward to seeing all your new works that will be coming in. May you have good weather and good drawing.

Diana Armfield.

THE ARTS RICHMOND BOOK PICNIC 12TH MAY 2019 – A REVIEW BY CATHERINE JAMES

"On Sunday 12th May I was fortunate to be invited to attend The Arts Richmond Book Picnic on The Green in Richmond. It was a beautiful sunny afternoon and The Green was filled with a multitude of stalls surrounding the huge white, central marquee. When I arrived, I received a warm welcome from Arts Richmond and enjoyed a delicious picnic.

The highlight of the event was hearing Roger McGough reading poems from his new collection called 'Joinedupwriting.' I enjoyed his wit and wisdom, and particularly the manner in which he explained the context and ideas behind his writing. My favourite poem was 'The Full English,' in which Roger McGough explored themes of heritage and diversity. His poem told how a DNA swab test for Englishness was undertaken after a meal of olives and Guinness and confirmed only 17.9% Englishness. We all laughed so much as the genetic cocktail was explored.

I also enjoyed listening to the Roger McGough Poetry Competition finalists reading their entries and having the chance to observe the prize giving ceremony.

This was a truly inspirational event and one that I feel very thankful to have been able to attend. Thank you so much, Arts Richmond."

Catherine James
